

Neverjuice Discord server: Moderation Handbook

(Written in English to ensure that all moderators and admins can understand and follow server rules consistently.)

There are different levels of rule violations, with increasing severity. A mild offense or unintentional behavior may only require a friendly reminder or guidance from a mod. Repeated or disruptive behavior needs a private warning or timeout, while clear disrespect for the rules (serious, harmful, illegal behavior) needs to be reported to server staff, and result in a long timeout, kick or ban.

1. Be kind, respectful, and inclusive: good vibes only!

Example violations

- Passive aggressive or disrespectful behavior (mild/unintentional)
- Excluding others (mild/unintentional)
- Hostile arguments in public chat (disruptive)

Actions

- Mild/unintentional: Friendly reminder in chat or DM
- Disruptive: Friendly reminder. If the behavior continues, issue a timeout or kick.

Always consider context. Tonality and jokes could be misunderstood, clarify the situation and be open in your communication about why the behavior is not tolerated. Some mild/unintentional offenses can be defused kindly in public chat channels, while other cases are better handled through a private DM that reminds the person about this rule. Disruptive and more toxic arguments warrant further action. If someone is blatantly disrespecting or harassing others, the situation could fall under rule 3.

2. Keep all chats PG and safe for everyone. No NSFW or graphic content, this includes your profile, text, VC, links and images.

Example violations

- Lewd or dark jokes in chat (mild/unintentional)
- Inappropriate usernames, statuses, profile pictures (disruptive)
- Sexual/explicit comments about another user, sexual harassment (serious, harmful, possibly illegal)
- Sharing NSFW (sexual, violent, or otherwise graphic) content, images, links in chat, profile or VC (serious, harmful, illegal)

Actions

- Mild/unintentional: Remove content immediately + send a private warning reminding the offender about the content rules. If the behavior continues, timeout or kick.
- Disruptive: Private warning + kick until the person has changed their profile.
- Serious, harmful, illegal: Immediate ban + (if illegal) report to Discord Trust & Safety.

We have zero tolerance for sharing NSFW content. Remind members about the rules they have agreed to by joining the server. Illegal content must be reported to Discord Trust & Safety. If a server member has become a victim of a crime: provide support resources and encourage reporting, but do not step in personally to assist in the process.

3. No hate speech, harassment, or personal attacks of any kind will be tolerated.

Example violations

- Personal insults, even meant as jokes (serious, harmful; can also be unintentional)
- Racist, sexist, homophobic, other discriminatory remarks (serious, harmful)
- Threats, doxxing, shared personal information, targeted harassment to server members or staff (serious, harmful, illegal)

Actions

- Personal insult (serious, harmful; can also be unintentional): Timeout + private warning. If the personal attacks continue, kick or ban.
- Serious, harmful: Immediate ban
- Illegal: Immediate ban + encourage reporting

These violations must always be taken seriously. Collect evidence through screenshots and logs. Mild offenses, such as insulting jokes, can sometimes have unclear intentions. We don't know the relationships between two server members, even if someone doesn't take offense this behavior still needs to be moderated in order to set the tone for other server members, to keep a friendly and respectful tone. Check in on and protect the target, offer support resources and encourage reporting illegal behavior.

4. No spam, disturbing messages/sounds, trolling, promotion of other Discord servers, or excessive self-promotion. This includes DMing fellow members. Share cool stuff in the correct channels, but don't overdo it.

Example violations

- Spamming in text channels, repeated messages or usage of all caps (disruptive, repeated)

- Disturbing sounds or soundboard usage in VC (disruptive, repeated)
- Advertising their own server, product or services (serious)
- DMing other members with advertisements or self-promo (serious)

Actions

- Disruptive, repeated: Ask to stop spamming/making disturbing sounds. If it continues, chat timeout or VC mute. If it clearly continues after a longer timeout, kick.
- Serious: Remove content + private warning in DM. If advertising continues, kick.

Spamming and trolling is not tolerated. Regarding self-promotion it's okay to share, for example, your art and social accounts in the #fanart channel in order to show your work and point others to a place where they can see more. Discussions about work and personal projects in chat and VC are also not restricted. The line is drawn at clear advertisements for products, services, and links to other Discord servers; as well as when promotion is spammed to members' inboxes.

5. Don't promote piracy and cheating, or beg anyone to buy you the game. You may share and discuss mods in the correct channels.

Example violations

- Asking if cracked versions exist (mild/unintentional)
- Encouraging piracy of the game or linking to a game piracy site (serious)
- Promoting or giving tips about game-breaking cheating (serious)
- Begging others to buy the game for them (serious)

Actions

- Mild/unintentional: Remind about the rules and warn
- Serious: Remove content + timeout + warning. If behaviour continues, kick.

We do not tolerate game piracy, cheating or promotion of it. Our attitude to modding remains accepting, people may create and share mods in appropriate channels but not promote them through spamming.

6. Avoid heavy or political conversations in the public server. The same goes for sensitive mental health discussions: we care, but we're not always equipped to help.

Example violations

- Heated political discussion, or conflict over sensitive topics in chat or VC (disruptive)
- Sharing very personal mental health struggles in public channels (serious)

Actions

- Disruptive: Gently redirect and suggest continuing privately. If behaviour continues, warn privately. If it clearly continues and/or is intentionally triggering or trolling, timeout or kick.
- Serious: Gently redirect. If the messages sent are triggering other server members (mentions of suicide, SA, etc.), remove the content. If behavior continues, remind of server rules and issue timeouts. Offer support resources if needed.

Be empathetic while setting boundaries. If someone shares something serious, respond with kindness but remind them of the rules, and that this isn't a professional support space. Offer support resources or country-specific helplines if needed.

7. Don't imitate server staff or devs in your profile name/picture, or pretend to spread information on their behalf.

Example violations

- Similar name by coincidence (mild/unintentional)
- Profiles imitating staff/devs (serious)
- Pretending to speak on behalf of staff/devs (serious)

Actions

- Mild/unintentional: Ask to change profile and warn.
- Serious: Ask to change profile and warn. If they refuse, are deliberately impersonating and spreading false information, ban.

Members impersonating server staff or devs can cause confusion, and at worst actively spread misinformation about the game, server or rules. If a server member doesn't change their profile and behaviour after a reminder about the rules, a ban should be issued.

8. Stick to English-only to keep things clear and easy to moderate.

Example violations

- Extended conversations in other languages (mild/unintentional)
- Ignoring moderators (repeated)

Actions

- Mild/unintentional: Gently remind to keep conversation in English so everyone can follow. If public conversation continues, give a short timeout.
- Repeated: Private warning + timeout

Offenses to this rule are likely unintentional, a reminder should most often be enough.

9. Follow Discord's Terms of Service and Community Guidelines. You must be 13+.

Example violations

- Users are under 13 years old (serious)
- Breaking Discord's global rules (serious)

Actions

- Serious: Immediate ban. Users under 13 get kicked + informed that they can rejoin at 13+.

These rules are subject to change at any time, as the devs and admins see fit. The server staff always have the last word and reserve the right to ban.

This rule works as a failsafe. If a situation doesn't fit under a specific rule or users are arguing against actions taken, staff can refer to this and still act to protect the community. If you're unsure about a situation, ask in the mod chat before taking action.

About illegal activity

Any form of illegal activity in the server will result in an immediate and permanent ban. Serious cases must also be reported to Discord Trust & Safety and if necessary to authorities. Mods should collect logs and evidence as well as alert other admins if they see illegal activity occurring.

About your own boundaries

As a moderator, it's important to stay professional and protect your own well-being and safety. You have no obligation to answer unwanted sexual advances, flirting, or otherwise harassing messages from anyone. You are also not required to handle situations that make you feel uncomfortable or unsafe. It's okay to step back and ask another mod or admin to take over, remember: you are a community member too. Communicate with the team and take breaks when needed, your well-being helps you moderate effectively and sets a positive example for others.
